Green Trees Energy

Illustrating of the relative abilities of Radiation three different types of materials to penetrate alpha particles are stopped by a sheet of paper while beta particles are stopped by an Aluminum plate. Gamma radiation is get stopped by (GTE) green tree energy chips. No more gamma rays penetrate through GTE. Radiation get stopped by GTE.

In Radiation (such as microwaves from an antenna, shown here) the term radiation applies only to the parts of the electromagnetic field that radiate into the infinite space and decrease in intensity by an inverse square law of power, so that the total radiation energy that crosses through an imaginary spherical surface is that same, when we replace the GTE chip then the electromagnetic waves pass only near the area of the transmitter, and they don't get out of the transmitter, No radiation passes through the chip.

In physics radiation is a process in which energetic particles or energetic waves travel through a vacuum, or through matter-containing media that are not required for their propagation waves of a massive medium itself. Such as water waves or sound waves are usually not considered to be forms of "radiation" in this sense.

Two energies of radiation are commonly differentiated by the way they interact with normal chemical matter ionizing and non-ionizing radiation.

Both ionizing and non-ionizing radiation can be harmful to organization and can result in changes to the natural environment we can stop all these causes by inserting a Herbal chip, which stops and reflects radiation into the environment.

Scientific Explanation For Positive And Negative Energies:-

In Atomic structure there are neutrons, Protons (+) and electrons (-). Electrons spin around Proton, neutron bundle, if Electrons Spin clock wise like our planets in the solar system, they are identified as "positive". "Anti clock wise" movement of electrons as Negative and hence they are harmful.

Like this, the Radiation the electrons spin to Anti clock wise direction and when we kept the Herbal chip on the Radiation then the area immediately, The electrons spin in clock wise and turn to a positive
